National Rail Passenger Survey

Autumn 2016 Main Report

Transport Focus is the independent transport user watchdog

Our mission is to get the best deal for passengers and road users. With a strong emphasis on evidence-based campaigning and research, we ensure that we know what is happening on the ground. We use our knowledge to influence decisions on behalf of passengers and road users to secure improvements and make a difference.

We represent train passengers in Britain and bus, coach and tram passengers in England (outside of London) as well as all those who use motorways and major A-roads – known as the Strategic Road Network (SRN) – in England.

This year we hope to again seek the views of more than 100,000 passengers and transport users on a range of the issues that affect them. As ever we will publish all of our research.

What is Transport Focus doing for me?

We're here to put the interests of transport users first. We do this by:

Campaigning for improvements

- We conduct research and gather information, like the National Rail Passenger Survey, so we understand the issues that matter to you.
- We work with governments and the industry to ensure that the transport user voice is heard when making decisions about the future.
- We focus on a number of key issues, including:
 - disruption
 - fares and tickets
 - quality and level of services
 - investment.

Resolving complaints with rail companies

If you make a complaint and are unhappy with the response, we may be able to take up your complaint with the rail company involved. Our contact details can be found on the back cover.

Introduction

Background

The National Rail Passenger Survey (NRPS) provides a network-wide picture of customers' satisfaction with their train journey. Passenger opinions of train services are collected twice a year from a representative sample of passenger journeys. Passengers' overall satisfaction, overall satisfaction with the station and train, and satisfaction with 33 specific aspects of service can therefore be compared over time. In the Autumn 2016 wave we surveyed our millionth rail passenger journey in the NRPS.

Main fieldwork took place between 1 September and 20 November 2016. Top-up shifts were done within the last three weeks of the fieldwork period.

This document contains passenger ratings of their journey for each individual train operating company (TOC) in chapter three. Ratings are also provided for each sector i.e. London and the South East, long-distance, and regional operators (chapter two). We also include some tables showing passenger ratings for certain specific aspects of service for all TOCs on one page (chapter three), and results for routes within TOCs (chapter four). Chapter five shows which station and train factors have the biggest influence on whether a passenger is satisfied or dissatisfied. Passengers' ratings are also summarised nationally by totalling results for all TOCs across Great Britain (chapter two).

More analysis for each train company can be found in 'at-a-glance' guides which are available for each train company and for Great Britain on the Transport Focus website. Other NRPS analysis is also available and readily accessible. Detailed analysis for the last six waves is available through our online system Reportal and summary data (including 10 waves of trend data) is available through our open data tool which can be accessed via the following link:

<http://www.transportfocus.org.uk/our-open-data>.

There were no major changes to TOC boundaries between Spring 2016 and Autumn 2016.

Issues affecting the Autumn 2016 survey

Autumn 2016 (wave 35) main fieldwork was undertaken between 1 September and 20 November 2016. Top-up interviews were done within the last three weeks of the fieldwork period.

Due to strikes on some days during fieldwork, a small number of Southern shifts could not go ahead as planned and had to be re-scheduled as very few or no trains were running at some stations.

The London Overground Gospel Oak to Barking route was not in operation for the whole of the fieldwork period; therefore no fieldwork shifts were conducted on this route.

As with previous waves, planned engineering work meant that some shifts were rescheduled. As usual, shifts are only rescheduled if the engineering work caused a station or line closure. Whenever possible the shifts went ahead as planned if trains were still running.

Shifts were aborted if a station only had a replacement bus service. As previously, where a station was still open and served several TOCs, we continued with our intended shift as planned – we were able to distribute questionnaires to passengers on those TOCs still operating a service.

Field workers were told not to give questionnaires to passengers boarding a replacement bus service and all completed questionnaires relating to journeys undertaken wholly or partly by bus were excluded from the final analysis and reporting of results. There is a question which gathers this data on the front page of the questionnaire, making such exclusions very straightforward.

We recognise that some journeys are not covered by this survey, mainly because it does not include rail replacement bus services, but this only has a limited effect on the results.

Other comments

For ease of use, National Rail Passenger Survey (NRPS) data is reported without decimal places. However, changes from wave to wave are calculated using three decimal places. Rounding of the data means that results may appear to differ by one per cent to the published results. For example, 84.6 is reported as 85 and 83.2 is reported as 83; the apparent reported difference is two; however the actual difference is 1.4 and will therefore be published as one.

The tables include a column marked 'significant change', which measures whether there has been a marked improvement or decline in satisfaction since Autumn 2015 or Spring 2016. If an improved or declined satisfaction rating is marked it means it is significant at the 95 per cent confidence level. This means there is a less than five per cent chance that the change observed is not 'real'. As some station and train factors have a seasonal component to the results, the main comparison we use is against the survey results one year previously. For the Autumn 2016 survey the main comparison is against the Autumn 2015 results. Those passengers with no opinion are excluded from these calculations and from these tables – in some cases this is a large group. This means that sample sizes may be small for a few of the station or train factors of some TOCs. If so, quite large percentage changes may not be significant.

Passenger satisfaction with the various train factors is based on which train company is operating the train on which passengers were travelling. Satisfaction with station factors is based on passengers' views of the station at which they commenced their journey. For example, passengers' views of station factors in the train company table for Chiltern Railways is based on all passengers' views of their origin station before travelling on a journey with Chiltern Railways. However, some stations that Chiltern Railways trains call at are not operated by Chiltern Railways. NRPS results by station operator are available on request.

The NRPS contains satisfaction ratings for all TOCs operating under franchise. We are also very pleased that four other train companies participated in the survey at their own expense, and grateful that they have allowed their data to be published here. They are Hull Trains, Grand Central, Heathrow Connect and Heathrow Express.

The methodology used for these four train companies is the same as for most franchised train companies, except that most questionnaires on these train companies are handed out on the train to ensure that sufficient completed questionnaires are returned. Please see the Appendix for further details.

Data for Hull Trains and Grand Central is provided next to a comparison with data for long-distance TOCs. Data for Heathrow Connect and Heathrow Express is provided next to a comparison with data for London and South East TOCs. However, it should be noted that data for these operators has not been included in the summary of long-distance, London and South East or national data. Sector data only includes train companies that are operating under franchise.

The overall sample size for the Autumn 2016 survey was 29,364 for all the train companies combined (26,899 for the franchised companies).

Results for Southeastern from Spring 2016 going back to Autumn 2008 have been revised following receipt of updated journey profile information. National and London & South East sector results (which include Southeastern) have also been revised. No changes are statistically significant.

Key results

Autumn 2016 wave

- Nationally the percentage of passengers satisfied with their journey overall was 81 per cent. This was a significant decline compared to Autumn 2015 (when 83 per cent of passengers were satisfied). 80 per cent of passengers were satisfied overall with their journey in Spring 2016.
- Overall satisfaction by TOC varied between 65 per cent and 97 per cent.
- Overall satisfaction by individual routes within TOCs varied between 62 per cent and 97 per cent.
- At a national level, the proportion of passengers satisfied with punctuality/reliability was 73 per cent. This was significantly down compared to Autumn 2015 when 78 per cent of passengers were satisfied. This was the factor showing the largest decline.
- Nationally the percentage of passengers satisfied with all train and station factors improved for four service areas, declined for nine (including overall satisfaction with the train) and the rest were unchanged. The biggest improvement in satisfaction was +2 per cent for the facilities and services at the station; the biggest decline was for punctuality/reliability (-5 per cent).
- The proportion of passengers satisfied with value for money of the price of their ticket nationally was 47 per cent. This was not significantly different compared to Autumn 2015 when 48 per cent were satisfied. 66 per cent of passengers were satisfied with sufficient room for all passengers to sit/stand, which was a significant improvement compared to Autumn 2015 (when 65 per cent were satisfied).

- For London and the South East operators 80 per cent of passengers were very or fairly satisfied overall. This is a significant decline compared to Autumn 2015 (when 82 per cent were satisfied). The percentage of passengers satisfied with all train and station factors significantly improved for eight service areas (including overall satisfaction with the station), declined for seven (including overall satisfaction with the train) and the rest were unchanged. The biggest improvement in satisfaction was with the facilities and services at the station (+3 per cent), the biggest decline was with punctuality/reliability (-6 per cent).
- For the long-distance operators the proportion of passengers who were very or fairly satisfied overall was 86 per cent. This was not significantly different compared to Autumn 2015 (when 87 per cent were satisfied). Passenger satisfaction for the various train and station factors improved for five service areas and declined for none. The rest were unchanged. The biggest improvements in satisfaction were with the facilities and services at the station and toilet facilities on the train (both +4 per cent).
- For regional operators 84 per cent of passengers were very or fairly satisfied with their journey overall. This was a significant decline compared to Autumn 2015 when 88 per cent were satisfied. Passenger satisfaction for the various station and train factors improved for no service areas, declined for sixteen and the rest were unchanged. Seven service areas showed declines of -4 per cent, including overall satisfaction with the station.

- Comparing the percentage of passengers satisfied overall for individual train operating companies with Autumn 2015, none significantly improved and three significantly declined (Great Northern, ScotRail and Southern). All other TOCs had no statistically significant change in their overall satisfaction results compared with Autumn 2015.
- The highest ratings for overall satisfaction were achieved by Hull Trains (97 per cent), Heathrow Express (96 per cent), Merseyrail (95 per cent), Chiltern Railways (91 per cent), Grand Central (91 per cent) and Virgin Trains East Coast (91 per cent).
- The lowest ratings for overall satisfaction were given to Southern (65 per cent), Thameslink (73 per cent), Southeastern (77 per cent) and Great Northern (78 per cent).
- Satisfaction with value for money by individual routes within TOCs varied between 33 per cent and 84 per cent.
- Satisfaction with punctuality/reliability by individual routes within TOCs varied between 44 per cent and 97 per cent.
- Satisfaction with sufficient room for all passengers to sit/stand by individual routes within TOCs varied between 47 per cent and 94 per cent.

What impacts on satisfaction and dissatisfaction?

Not all the station and train factors shown in this report will have equal importance. Some things will have a much bigger influence on whether a passenger is satisfied with the overall journey than others.

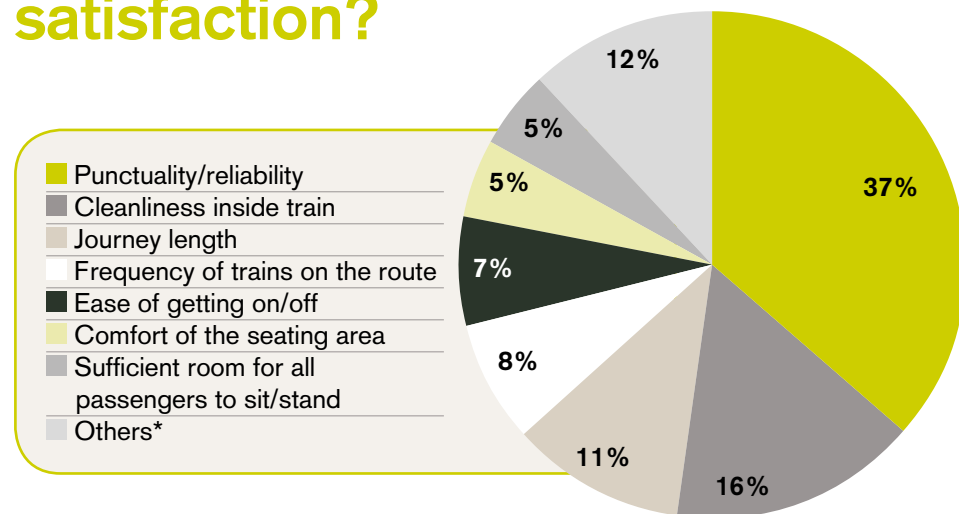

The charts below show which station and train factors are statistically most important in determining overall passenger satisfaction and dissatisfaction in Great Britain based on the NRPS data for Autumn 2016 and Spring 2016 combined.

The analysis looks at which factors correlate most highly with overall journey satisfaction. For example, if those satisfied with punctuality are much more likely to be satisfied overall, then punctuality is likely to have a bigger impact on overall satisfaction – the higher the percentage figure below the greater the influence on overall journey satisfaction.

These charts show that punctuality remains the biggest single influence on satisfaction, and that the way delays are handled by TOCs has a strong influence on dissatisfaction. Similar analysis by train company is available on the Transport Focus website at www.transportfocus.org.uk/research/national-passenger-survey-introduction

Technical appendix

Questionnaires are handed out at stations to passengers about to board a train, with a reply-paid envelope provided for returning them.

Each train operating company (TOC) is sampled separately. Interviewers are generally given a number of questionnaires to hand out at a station. At Gatwick and Heathrow Airports, and for some shifts at certain London termini, questionnaires are handed out to passengers of a specific TOC.

The number of questionnaires handed out will depend on three main factors: the size of the station, time of day, and the length of shift.

On Arriva Trains Wales, London Overground and Northern, and one route on both ScotRail and South West Trains, most NRPS shifts are done on-train. These TOCs' routes operate either in mostly rural areas or in areas where there are a lot of small or relatively small stations where it is efficient to do most NRPS shifts on-train.

On Hull Trains, Grand Central, Heathrow Connect and Heathrow Express most questionnaires are handed out on the train to ensure return of sufficient questionnaires.

Approximately 31 per cent of questionnaires that are given out are returned. Returned questionnaires are checked to confirm that details provided are for a real journey and then the questionnaire response is assigned to the appropriate TOC.

TOC data is compiled to provide a national sample. Fieldwork is carried out each Spring (principally in February/March) and in the Autumn (principally in September/October). Up to Spring 2003, fieldwork took place over three weeks. From Autumn 2003, the fieldwork was extended to a 10 or 11-week period to provide a better representation of journeys (though if Easter is early, the fieldwork period may be slightly shorter and start earlier than normal).

Quotas for returned questionnaires are set overall and by weekday/weekend, journey purpose (commute, business, leisure) and station size. All data for a TOC presented in this report is weighted up to the number of passenger journeys annually on the TOC and the profile of these journeys by weekday/weekend, journey purpose (commuter, business, leisure) and station size (very large, large, medium, small).

The data for number of journeys and profiles by these variables has been collected and updated from TOCs periodically since the survey started in Autumn 1999. Most recently this was done for all TOCs prior to the Autumn 2016 survey. The stations for each TOC were stratified by the number of passengers and a number of stations in each size stratum is sampled. This sample design and weighting ensures that data is representative of all passenger journeys made on each TOC. National results are constructed by combining data for all TOCs together, weighting by number of journeys.

To allow simple reprocessing of data in line with changes to franchise boundaries, the sample design for NRPS uses a 'building block' approach from Autumn 2003 onwards (see page 62). For some of the new franchised TOCs it is not possible to provide reliable data pre-Autumn 2003.

If you would like to know more about how the survey is carried out or how data is compiled, including more details on methodology, please visit www.transportfocus.org.uk/research/national-passenger-survey-introduction

The survey is conducted across the entire franchised railway, and, in Autumn 2016, on four non-franchised train operating companies (TOCs). In both Spring and Autumn of each year, self-completion questionnaires are distributed at approximately 700 stations across Great Britain, selected to be representative of the entire network. Questionnaires are distributed at different times of day and across all days of the week. Data is weighted to ensure the sample accurately represents passengers using each operator's services in terms of the proportion of commuting, business and leisure journeys.

Overall, about 30,000 correctly completed questionnaires are usually returned each wave. For the majority of train operators the results are based on responses from 1000 passengers per survey. Smaller operators' results are usually based on the views of at least 500 passengers, whilst at least 2000 passengers are surveyed for the largest operator. Sample sizes for each question are provided on each page in sections two and three, along with the overall sample size for each operator. Not all passengers will answer all of the questions; for example only those passengers who are delayed would rate how well the train company dealt with delays. The number of passengers responding to each question is clearly indicated in the sample size column.

To provide a benchmark, three different types of train operator have been identified (using standard industry definitions): long-distance, London and the South East, and regional operators.

In this publication individual train operator results are presented alongside an appropriate sector type, enabling comparison of a TOC's results with operators that provide broadly similar services.

Changes to franchise boundaries or ownership of franchises in 2009 or previous years are detailed in previous reports. Changes to TOC boundaries mean that comparisons between the latest sector results and results up to Spring 2008 differ slightly in the areas that they cover (but this generally only makes a difference of up to one or two percentage points).

The NRPS uses a 'building block' approach. This is where the area covered by a TOC is divided into routes or divisions, so that when the boundaries of a franchise are revised, NRPS data can be quite easily reprocessed to the boundaries or routes of a new franchise. It also means that robust sub-TOC data is sometimes available and like-for-like comparisons can be made between routes at a sub-TOC level.

National Rail Passenger Survey statement of compliance with official statistics

Here we set out how we ensure the survey complies with the requirements of being an Official Statistic.

Quality management

Details of methodology, including data collection and analyses, are included in this publication and further details are available from: www.transportfocus.org.uk/research/national-passenger-survey-introduction.

We ensure that our methods are subject to internal review and external validation and scrutiny, both in the form of published methodological notes and at presentations. The methods used in the National Rail Passenger Survey (NRPS) are objectively chosen and based on sound statistical approaches. Whenever possible Transport Focus adopts standard practices and approaches.

Confidentiality and access to statistical data

Transport Focus protects the security of its statistical data and ensures that no statistics or analyses are produced that are likely to identify an individual unless the individual has previously consented to their data being used in this way. In certain circumstances we will provide data where the sample size is small, or where it is less robust, to internal staff, researchers, train companies and other organisations.

However we set out the issues with using such data or, if accessing the data via our website, such data are hidden.

Pre-release access

Access to the data before publication is limited to those who are involved in quality-checking the statistics before public release, those involved with operational planning, and those essential for production and publication.

Revisions

We are open and transparent at all times about revisions to published statistics.

Errors

Occasionally errors in our published statistics will occur. Significant errors in published statistics will be corrected as soon as possible, and publicity given to them. An error is considered to be significant if the resultant change would qualify or contradict the conclusions that would previously have been drawn from the data. In such circumstances we will amend the electronic version of the release as soon as possible and include a prominent alert on our website to notify users of the change.

If the error is minor or textual, or insignificant in the sense that any correction would reasonably be deemed inconsequential, we will not issue a correction immediately, but will do so when a new release was due for publication. If we discover an error which is insubstantial but which, in our professional judgement, warrants immediate correction we will amend electronic copies of the published release and ensure that the revision is clearly identified in the revised publication.

Decisions on how to address any errors in published statistics will be made by the head of profession for statistics at Transport Focus in consultation with Transport Focus's Statistics Governance Group. Information on all such amendments will be placed on our website alongside the link to the published document.

Waiver

Transport Focus has taken care to ensure that the information contained in the NRPS is correct. However, no warranty, express or implied, is given as to its accuracy and Transport Focus does not accept any liability for error or omission.

Transport Focus is not responsible for how the information is used, how it is interpreted or what reliance is placed on it. Transport Focus does not guarantee that the information contained in NRPS is fit for any particular purpose.
